MANY

Many generations of your family tree are complete.

FIND STRATEGY:

Use descendency view to look for the descendants of your early ancestors.

1. Sign in to FamilySearch.org with your LDS Account, and then click  Family Tree.
2. Find an ancestor who was born before 1830.
3. Select the ancestor, and click  Tree. Then change the view to  Descendency.
4. Expand the viewed descendants of your ancestor, and look for record hints .
5. Look for both the record hints icon and the research suggestions icon together  . The two icons together mean that there may be records for the person and possibly missing family members to add.
6. Click the research suggestions icon  to view possible gaps or missing family members.
7. Click the record hints icon  to view possible records about the person. Select a record, and then click Review and Attach.
8. Compare the information from the suggested record to the information already in your family tree.
9. If the information is accurate, attach the record, and add any missing family members to your family tree.
10. Click Return to Family Tree. Reserve ordinances for the newly added family members.

Some of your parents, grandparents, or great-grandparents are in the family tree.

FIND STRATEGY:

Use records published on FamilySearch.org to find ancestors in the next few generations of your tree. The landscape view has direct links to record hints and research suggestions within the tree.

If you haven't completed your first four generations, gather information about those ancestors, and add it to your family tree.

1. Sign in to FamilySearch.org with your LDS Account, and then click  Family Tree.
2. If you are not already in landscape view, change the view to  Landscape.
3. Look for green temple icons , record hints icons , and research suggestions icons .
4. Click the icons to view the records and research suggestions.

The green temple icon identifies missing temple ordinances.

The record hints icon suggests that there may be records available for the individual.

The research suggestions icon indicates possible gaps or missing family members.

The data problems icon warns of potential data problems.

TAKE

family names to the temple

1. Sign in to FamilySearch.org with your LDS Account, and then go to the Temple menu and select All Reserved.
2. Select the box of the ancestor for whom you want to perform ordinances. Click the Print button.
3. Click the ordinances box if you would like to get a card for all ordinances, or click the box of the individual ordinances you would like to perform. Click Print.
4. Take the name to the temple to perform ordinance work, or share it with a family member.

TEACH

family members and others

After you find a name and take it to the temple, share your experience with family members or friends, and encourage them to try it for themselves.
