

The Water and the Bread

Reverently (♩=70)

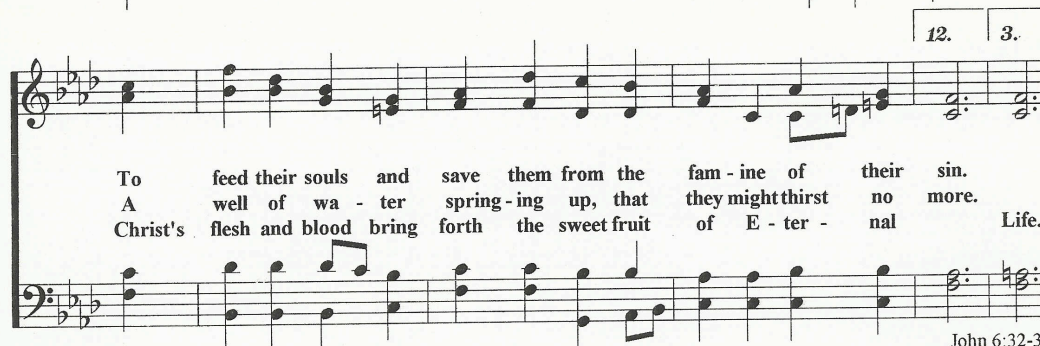

1. The Son of God, who came to face the Gar - den and the Hill,
 2. "I am the bread of life," He said; the bread that comes from heaven.
 3. The to - kens of the sac - ra - ment, the wa - ter and the bread

Sought not him - self to glor - i - fy, but oth - ers' needs ful - fill.
 Who eats this bread will ne - ver die nor ev - er hun - ger a - gain
 Re - mind us of his sac - ri - fice the price the Sav - ior paid.

He gave his bo - dy and his blood, an of - f'ring for his kin,
 For those who thirst, He fills their cup with liv - ing wa - ter pure,
 And as the wa - ter and the bread pro - vide food here on earth,

To feed their souls and save them from the fam - ine of their sin.
 A well of wa - ter spring - ing up, that they might thirst no more.
 Christ's flesh and blood bring forth the sweet fruit of E - ter - nal Life.
