Hymn Text

The Temple of our God

The temple of our God
The mountain of the Lord Stands as a beacon to the world Of light and truth restored

A house of faith and prayer
Of learning and of peace
Where hearts are turned to loved ones gone And worldly worries cease

A place of sacred rites
Of ordinances pure
Where we by covenant are bound To God forevermore.

A sacred, hallowed space
A holy Si-i-nai
Where sons and daughters are endowed With power from on high

So come to God's own house Receive His bounteous grace
And then go forth enrobed in power Upheld by His embrace.

D&C 109: 8, 21-22, 35.
