Do you re-mem-ber years a-go
When you were just a few years old
Life is short-er than we think
And we get stuck in our rou-tine

And ev-ery-thing was so brand new
Liv-ing out the day to day
But looking back you realize
You see the world through different eyes
But we weren't made to stand still
But for climbing up that hill

'Cause all the things you've been through
And getting better on the way

There in the mirror is someone else
Like you can't even recognize yourself
What direction are you gonna take
So many decisions you gotta make

And the person you're becoming
To get us where we're going
It's part of life
It's full of choices.

It's one way or the other. What makes us who we are?

It's up to you which way to go. The only thing we really know

Is nothing ever stays the same. You're gonna change.
